6. PPL is committed to implementing steps to prevent modern slavery in the supply chain. We call upon all organisations we engage with to influence their global supply chains by improving transparency and accountability; so that together we can help the government eradicate the injustice and brutality of modern slavery and human trafficking. In taking steps to prevent modern slavery in the supply chain we will expect all parties with whom we contract to confirm adherence in writing to our policy, that they and their suppliers have or shall similarly adopt a policy no less onerous than our own, such confirmation to be given either during the tender process ahead of any award of any business intended to be contracted, as part of any contract terms that are entered into subsequent to a tender award or on renewal of any contracted business.
7. A full copy of this policy and a copy of The Modern Slavery Act will be accessible to all of our employees electronically. An understanding of our policies, including this policy, forms part of our training to new staff. Existing employees will receive training in respect of our policies and procedures from time to time.
8. This policy statement will be reviewed annually and published.
